Pulse 1968 is - Dedicated To Our Doctors,

In the hope it will convey
Some of our appreciation
For their help along the way;

For sharing with us the knowledge
That they themselves have learned;
For their willingness to counsel
When to them we have turned.

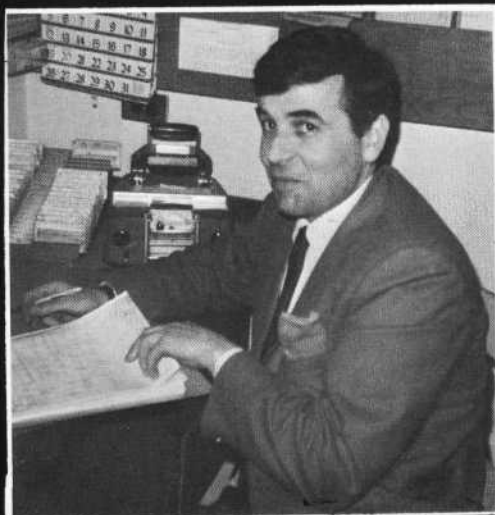

And so we hope this gesture small
Will help to let them know,
Their guidance has helped each one of us
To reach our final goal.

Director of Nursing

On behalf of the Nursing Staff, we extend congratulations to the Class of 68 on the occasion of your Graduation. We are justly proud of the Graduates from our School of Nursing.

Our best wishes go with you for future happiness and success in a most rewarding profession.

We are looking forward to a close professional relationship with you as valuable members of our Nursing Staff.

M Gulliver

Mrs. Mildred Gulliver,
Director of Nursing Service.

Director of Nursing Education

The Faculty of the School of Nursing extends to the members of the 1968 Graduating Class sincere congratulations.

Having successfully completed three years as a nursing student, you have attained your goal - to become a graduate nurse. It is our hope that as a professional nurse you will continue to grow through seeking wider experiences which will add to your knowledge, understandings and skills so that you will become increasingly a more competent practitioner of Nursing and gain personal satisfaction in your chosen profession.

In the years ahead, may you enjoy good health, prosperity and happiness.

Sir William Osler wrote:

"To learn the pleasure of giving not only our talent but of ourselves - to learn to minister not as a sacrifice but as a thanksgiving, this is to enlighten the lives of others, which is happiness."

To The Graduating Class

As the days dwindle down towards the finishing date for your nursing course, we extend congratulations to you on your accomplishments. We wish you much happiness and success in your future careers as graduate and Registered Nurses.

To be successful, you must ever be observant of developments that are evolving in your profession. You are living in a time of accelerated emphasis on nursing. This can be exciting and possibly threatening unless you are prepared to keep an open, alert mind. To you belongs the future. The destiny of your chosen profession depends upon the analysis, reasoning and active participation of each of you.

In a recent address, entitled "The Winds of Change," the Minister of Health reminded us that to-day we are serving an enlightened public. May you, too, be enlightened as a graduating member of your profession so that you may help fan the winds of change in a suitable direction for the education of the nurses of the future. As you assume a part, large or small, in the education of the future nurses, may you consider what Francis Parkman has said about general education -

"To direct popular education, not to stuffing the mind with crude aggregations of imperfect knowledge, but rather to the development of its powers of observation, comparison, analysis and reasoning, to strengthening and instructing its moral sense, and leading it to self-knowledge . . ."

To you, we bequeath the future. May you be successful in developing it.

Sincerely,

L. E. Hill

The Board of Directors and Staff congratulate you on the completion of your Course, and extend a sincere wish that you will actively engage in your newly acquired profession.

The shortage of Graduate Nurses is universal, which in itself assures exciting and demanding years ahead.

As with all professions, we must strive to improve our method of teaching, and we are hoping the new 2 + 1 Programme for educating Nurses - to be started here in the Fall - will prove beneficial.

We are proud of our Graduates and confident the Class of 1968 will carry on the high traditions established.

*Message From
Chief of Staff*

On behalf of the Medical Staff, I offer sincere congratulations to the Pulse and its staff, and to the graduating class of 1968. You have given three years of your life to nursing and without you our hospital would have been much the poorer, but we hope that we have given you an equal measure in knowledge, experience and understanding. We think that each of you will be a better person for the time you have spent in training.

The Medical Staff are proud of you. Good Luck!!

William G. Grant, M.D.
Chief of Service, 1968
Oshawa General Hospital.

Congratulations to the Class of 1968. We have shared many trials and tribulations during the past three years, and now we can hold our heads high, smile, and say, "We've made it!"

I sincerely hope that this edition of the "Pulse" holds lasting memories for all of us.

I wish for success and happiness always for our class and for those to follow, and as we walk down our chosen path of life, let us remember our motto, "numquam lux deficiat - May the light never fail.".

Class of 1970

BONNIE BALL when unable to sleep at night, walks to the washroom and gives us a fright. When the only phone rings, LUCY runs and gets disturbed when its for another one. JO, our happily married one, always tries to get her work all done. DOROTHY BROADBEAR is ribbed about her name, but don't fret it won't always be the same. BUCKY the procrastinator, will always do things much later. JUDY BURKHART one of our RNA's, comes to us from down Windsor way. CHATTERSON is a girl who is quiet, you will never see her cause a riot. LYNN COUTTS, loves to sing and dance, but it seems to put her in a trance. CHERYL's efforts to produce this book, should by none be overlooked. JOAN GARDINER continues to giggle all day, and is first in line for her monthly pay. BETTY GOURLIE to the doctor's delight, wants another chance to win the bull fight. MARIAN HANNAH always get mail, from Normie and Mommy without fail. BARB HEAD'S expression, "Oh how crude", is really exercised among this brood. CAROLYN is a real Lyonesse, and dreams of her frilly wedding dress. There is a girl and her name is HITCHON, and she's always found in the kitchen. The girl who has a fishy fame, is SARDINE by generic name. CAROL is the pettiest thing, who diets just for a fling. KINTON our little sleepyhead, always wants to go back to bed. SHARON LARMER likes to sew and knit, for this she's admired quite a bit. JO-ANNE LENNON of artist fame, has no masterpiece to her name. MARG LEWIN'S "Show time, show time", hasn't yet made her a dime. MARTY'S sweater just grew and grew, trying to shrink it she turned blue. CATHY McNAUGHT our fearless leader, has trouble measuring ounces and litres. BONITA BANANA must be a queen, as on her letter's a seal can be seen. SUZY MILLER will sing you a tune, whenever she stars in the bathroom. MONO with her pretty face, does a chicken dance for our race. SAMMY in her green beret, drives her classy chevrolet. PATTI wanted to jump and sing, when she received her steady ring. MOSES has a Biblical name, but she is our friend all the same. To the phone, you can see, PAMMY running as quick as can be. Judo rates high on VICKIE'S list, now she no longer needs her fist. SHELLEY PRIMEAU is a petite doll, who's always waiting for Bernie's call. WENDY PUTERBOUGH has a name that is confused, the rest of us are thoroughly amused. DIANNE REID a Sydney gal, came here and is everyone's pal. BETTY SEWARD, the shortest of our class, is a sweet blond and happy lass. ST. JOHN is never awake until noon, why does 7:00 have to come so soon. ANNE'S blond hair always takes so long to dry, so in the common room for hours she lies. JUDY likes to have a hobby, her most active one is Robbie. NIELA'S our apple jack star, and she's a good guy by far.

Valedictory Address

Three years ago, graduation night June 1968 seemed very far away. In fact, it seemed almost an impossibility. In our first Graduation exercise experience, we looked to our happy "Big Sisters" and tried to share their excitement. They looked so confident as they stood in white uniform and black band, and proudly sang "Dear Alma Mater". But to speak of our Graduation? No! Graduation was a long, long time away.

This is a truly momentous occasion for all of us and we enter it with mixed feelings - sorrow, indeed, for our fair family of three years will soon disband and even though we will "keep in touch", it won't be the same - and yet, far surpassing this sorrow we have happiness for this occasion and great anticipation for the future.

Is it possible that three years ago we stood very "green" and quite wide-eyed in Alexandra Residence surrounded and overwhelmed by bags and baggage? Is it possible that we survived that first year of never-ending examinations, learning such impressive facts as the names and numbers of nerves in the body, how the blood circulates, the recipe for a linseed poultice and the sterile technique for giving an injection to an orange?

Before we knew it and quite before we thought ourselves ready, we were Intermediates.

It was during this second year when we had an opportunity to spend more time with patients that we were able to develop our own personal view of nursing.

How well we remember our Paediatric Experience when after placing our toddlers in their pink and blue plastic tubs we'd take our daily bath. Here we watched the different stages of growth and development and how environmental situations and circumstances affected these. These children were away from parents, home and familiar settings and it was left to us to fulfil their needs - a task which usually proved exhausting but pleasant.

It was exciting to be a part in the joy and wonder of bringing new, warm life into the world. Give us fifty years and we will still remember the thermometers, formulas and diapers all woven together by endless miles of walking. In the Premature Nursery we learned to give care with a gentle touch and observed closely as these tiny babies who looked as though they might break with a sneeze gained and grew slowly and steadily.

Through our experience at the Ontario Hospital, I think that we gained most of all, a better understanding of ourselves - but in the process there were constant analyses of friends, parents, instructresses, even strangers on the street. Little did our unsuspecting classmate know that her characteristic gesture or expression was all carefully thought out, traced, and explained for by her roommate-turned-psychiatrist.

One might say that our nursing experience us, scrubbed in the Operating Room, capped, supply was suddenly drained from the ingly began to spin. Doctors stood on ing in weird echoes. Many silent tain us through the day and yet, things surprisingly became structures suddenly took selves in the fascination What was the normal and viate? By the time our six proudly call ourselves a cal team.

Yes, as we look at it when our legs ached and nothing seemed to go right, one would ever choose nursing a good three years. The rich, far outnumbered the difficult Surgical, Obstetrical, Paediatric, experiences we have seen human need respond to care, friendliness years of learning we want to thank cation, Miss Hill, Associate Director the nursing service staff for the that you have given us.

A special thank-you goes to our amount of patience and understanding.

But, most of all, we want to thank our parents who have listened to our tales of woe and recounts of excitement and who have prayed for our happiness and satisfaction. You always seemed to see our worst side, but you never complained about your daughter, who occasionally came flying home, never for very long, but for just long enough to monopolize your time, conversation and money. Residence life has been fun, but you will never know how good it has been to come home. For making this night possible - thank you Mom and Dad.

To the Class of 1969 and our "Little Sisters" the class of 1970, we wish you every success and happiness in the years to come. They will pass very quickly.

To the Students from the Schools of Medical Technology and Radiological Technology who are graduating with us tonight, we extend our sincerest congratulations. We have worked along with you in giving total patient care. You must be equally excited on this your Graduation night.

And finally, to my classmates:- our dream has come true. The long awaited change from a blue to black band has arrived. Our status has changed from student nurses to graduating nurses and with it comes a broadening of responsibilities. Are we determined that in our nursing situations we will render our patients physical, emotional and spiritual support - for only then are we giving total patient care. May we never fall into the rut of thinking that in exercising good technique and in planning our work so that his physical needs only are well met, that we have cared for our patient.

We have had some good times together. We chose the best way to get to know each other - we lived together for three years! Together we've had a lot of fun, a lot of laughs, some serious moments, some long talks and the outcome has been some lasting friendships. As the time approaches when we'll separate to go to different hospitals in different cities, and perhaps countries, may we above all seek God's guidance and direction in the planning of our futures. It is difficult to put into words what one feels after three years. I can only say, thank-you for your friendship, thank-you for the good times we've had. Thank-you for the help and understanding you have given me. Thank-you for the past three years.

The End Of The Beginning

The Nurse

*The world grows better year by year,
Because some nurse in her little sphere,
Puts on her apron and grins and sings,
And keeps on doing the same old things:*

*Taking the temperatures, giving the pills
To remedy mankind's numberless ills;
Feeding the baby, answering the bells,
Being polite with a heart that rebels.*

*Longing for home and all the while
Wearing the same old professional smile.
Blessing the new born babe's first breath,
Closing the eyes that are still in death.*

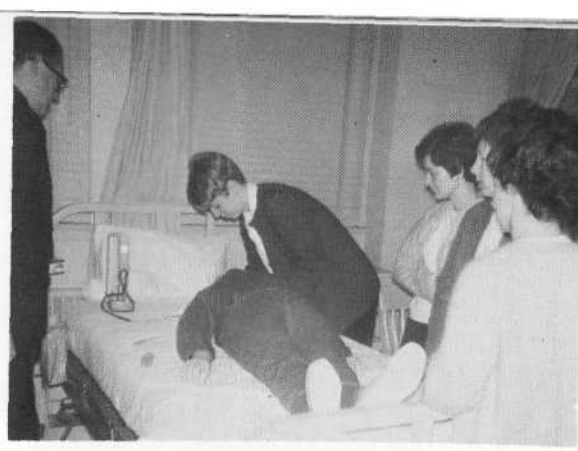

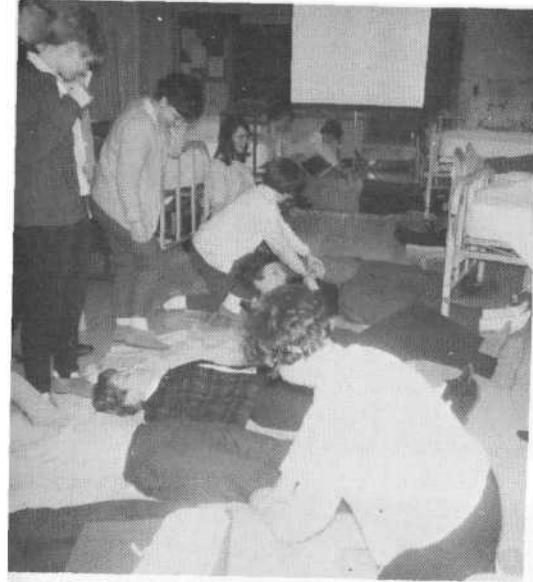

*Taking the blame for the doctor's mistakes,
Oh, dear, what a lot of patience it takes.
Going off duty at seven o'clock--
Tired, discouraged, and ready to drop.*

*But called back on 'special' at seven-fifteen
With woe in her heart, but it must not be seen.
Morning and evening, noon and night,
Just doing it over and hoping it's right.*

*When we lay down our caps and cross the bar,
Oh Lord, will you give us just one little star
To wear in our crowns with our uniforms new,
In that city above, where the head nurse is You.*

TO Alexandra Residence
We came three years ago;
And just what those three years would bring,
We really didn't know.

We made new friends, and learned new skills
Through many smiles and tears;
Then almost before we knew it,
There was only left two years.

That second year brought special things,
Two blue bands on our caps,
With Whitby, O.B.S., and Paeds.,
We slowly closed the gap.

Then one blue band replaced those two,
Our Senior Year was here.
The black bands we'd been working toward
Were ever drawing near.

Through Senior lectures we progressed,
And Wednesday clinics, too;
Experiences in Med. and Surg.,
Still learning something new.

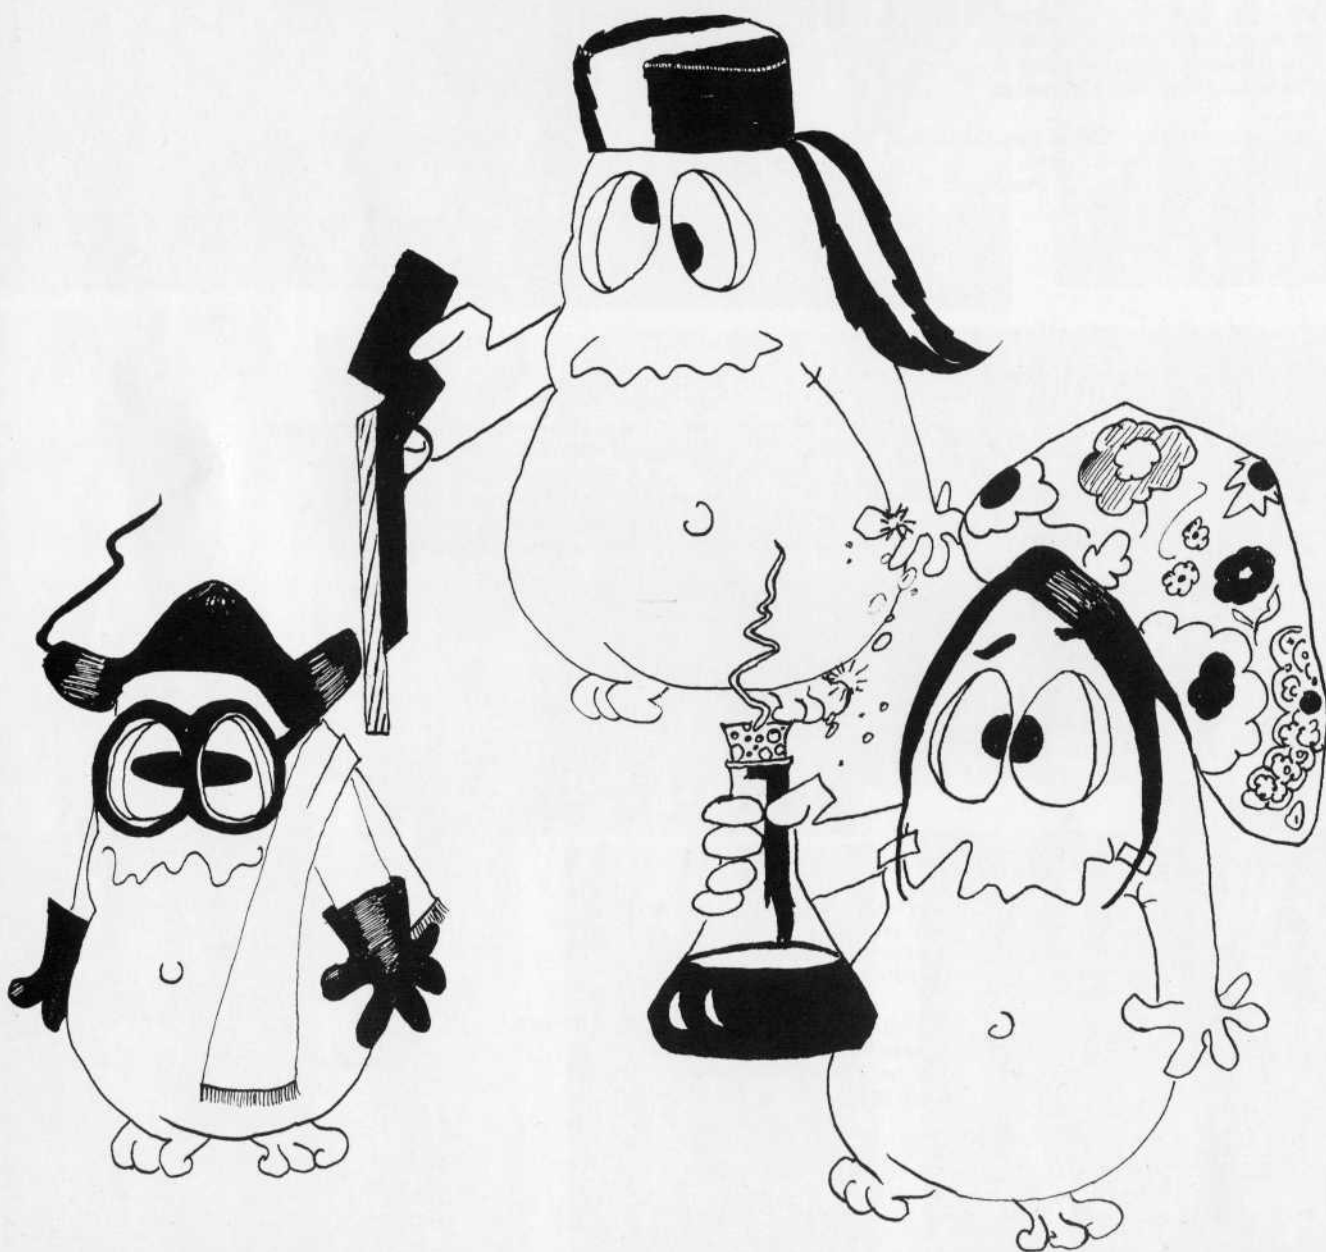

And as we plan - to write exams,
For Graduation Day,
To travel, or to settle down,
For that first month with pay, -

We think it's sad that it must finally end.
It hasn't been that bad;
But isn't it nice to know that soon
They'll be calling you a 'Grad'!

AROUND THE WORLD

"Attention please! Passengers fasten your seatbelts, please, as we prepare for take-off." Yes, at last, we were on our way "Around the World".

The roaring of the engines as we ascended to the clouds made it clear to us that this wasn't a dream. Our craft landed in different countries and we got an insight into native dress, song and dance.

On our flight, we stopped in England to see "The Running of the Ascot Gavot", and in Scotland to watch the "Bonnie Lassie" dance the "Highland Fling".

Included in our tour were Holland, France, Spain, where the brave Toreadors displayed their talent against the bulls in the vast areas, and Austria, where we flew over the Alps and heard sweet voices sing "Edelweiss" from "The Sound of Music".

Boarding the plane once again, we proceeded to the land of Dr. Zhivago, Russia. Here, two peasants displayed their colourful dress as they danced the spirited "Chanuk".

Continuing on our fun-filled trip, we were entertained in Italy, Africa, Japan, South America, and coming nearer to home, we stopped long enough in the United States to see some fancy soft-shoe.

After a world of adventure we landed, safe and sound in our dear land of home, "Canada" -- a country of which we are proud.

The show was over. The sixth production of Hospitalent had been a success and the heads of the committees took a deep bow.

We extend our sincere thanks to Mr. J. Sabyan, Mrs. M. Reimer, Mrs. G. Drynan, Miss C. Metcalf, Mr. R. Zeller, Mr. K. Brown, and Mr. J. Drynan.

We, the Seniors, would like to thank all the students for their co-operation in the production.

Best of luck to the classes in the future.

Ode

FROM THE CLASS OF 1969

I guess you've cried your longest tears
When reminiscing these three years
With all your friends there at your side.
You bid farewell - you say "Good-bye."
And deep inside your stomach churns;
Your years are gone you've had your turn.
Next year we'll be the senior class
Like those there've been in decades past,
But to you now there's none so great
As yours, the class of '68.

L.D. Tozak

Wings

Be like the bird
That, pausing in her flight
Awhile on boughs too slight,
Feels them give way
Beneath her and yet sings,
Knowing that she hath wings.

Victor Hugo

FROM

"These Are The Gifts I Ask"

These are the gifts I ask Of Thee, Spirit serene:
Strength for the daily task, Courage to face the road,
Good cheer to help me bear the traveler's load,
And, for the hours of rest that come between,
An inward joy of all things heard and seen.

Henry van Dyke

Compensation

Who never wept knows laughter but a jest;
Who never failed, no victory has sought;
Who never suffered, never lived his best;
Who never doubted, never really thought;
Who never feared, real courage has not shown;
Who never faltered, lacks a real intent;
Whose soul was never troubled has not known
The sweetness and the peace of real content.

E.M. Brainard

Graduation

WE are happy to be students of Class '68.
Our hopes are now realized as we eagerly wait;
For that memorable event that soon will be,
When we at last receive our degree.

We're just as scared now - each one will agree -
As the first day we decided a nurse to be.
With steps uncertain, our minds in a whirl,
Suitcase in hand, we met each new girl.

But we wouldn't trade places with those who have earned
More money than we, but never have learned
The joy of giving our time, and our strength,
The only reward being just a mere "Thanks".

The young we helped deliver, to face a new life;
The old to ease pain from struggle and strife.
But those who can greet you each morning and smile -
It's then that you realize, "It's been all WORTHWHILE."

If only we knew what our future will bring
As we part from our friends with whom we shared everything;
The discouragement, and tears in the past three years
Helped to make us mature, to face problems and fears.

And as we look back
On what we thought would be long,
Has passed - oh so quickly
When you are where you belong.

We like to remember the good and the bad,
The faces with pain, and those who were sad.
This helps us keep steady, with an even pace,
To meet the challenge at hand in our own human race.

The day we have dreamed of is - oh so near -
What to do now? As we shed silent tears,
We will try to be worthy of the vows we must take,
Before our family and friends, as we now graduate.

But we all must give thanks
To the One above
Who guided us through
With His power and His love.

- Alma Marshall
(Mother of Joy - Class of '68)

Faith

We have the God-given ability to believe, to have faith - in God, in ourselves, and in our fellowmen.

Christ has told us "according to your faith, be it unto you." What a wonderful promise in those words.

We have only to put our problems before Him with a humble and faithful heart and to believe with the simple faith of a little child, and we are promised His guidance and help. If our problems are big, then our prayers should be equally big! And the minute we believe that He has answered our prayers, they have been answered, perhaps not as we wanted or expected, but answered nevertheless. And they are right answers, too.

Norman Vincent Peale

Retrospect

This is a door to which I have a key.
I turn the knob and steal along alone
Among the ghost-filled shadows silently,
As if each step would stir from them a tone
Too sweet for heart to bear, or wailing, some
Would make demand for more than flesh could stand,
For dear, dead days; eternal Summer sun;
And others there that ever would demand
Of me no more than love, bring forth sweet pain.
Give back to me high beauty as they sleep,
These quiet ones in slumber live to creep
In memory's core...My dim-lit door again
Is closing now, peace-crowned is all my mind,
- Old friendships there that leave no sting behind.

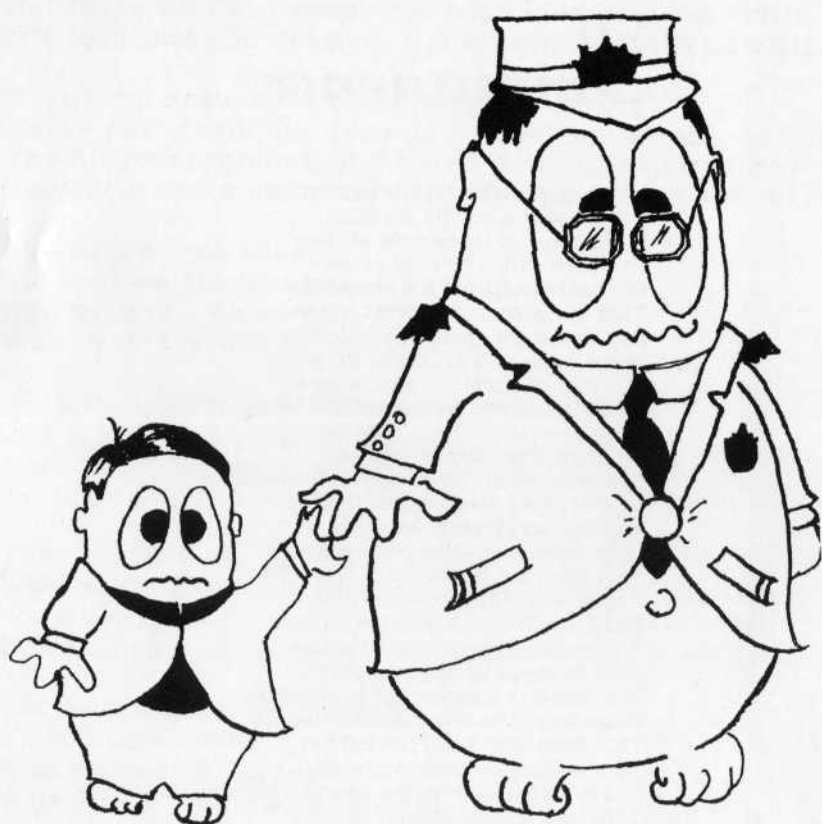

Foster McLarry Russell

Immanence

I have gathered a legible beauty
From many a sterile place....
In the frost of faces once shallow
I've seen with a fire the trace
Of beauty in lieu of the blankness
That the cosmic can never erase.
I've known the scent of carnations
In the room of a drunkard prone,
The hint of a mother somewhere
Who prayed with immeasurable tone.
Deep down in Gotham, the bowery,
On stumbling, unfortunate way,
I've warmed my blood with remembrance
Of a rhyme I created one day...
And lips so slovenly loosened
On a curse, or a slur, or a sin,
That knew me as wayward and rotter,
Found ever this essence within:
For I drank with a depth of feeling
The nectar of hymn and of psalm
(The loving of beauty was balm),
Was sweeter than woman or pleasure
Unmeasured in dross and in dram...
This flowing of soul, the infinite,
This eternity of beauty to man.
I have gathered from the heart of beauty
This love transcendental to men,
I will worship her all thru tomorrow
And never, no, never, divorce her again.
